Ten Vie For Campus Queen

Ten hopeful candidates for the honor of reigning as Eastern's 1958 Homecoming Queen were named as finalists by the Homecoming Committee this week.

The ten charmers were introduced to a packed audience of students Sunday night at a Queen's talent show at Roosevelt Auditorium.

Five of them — one Queen and four members of the Court — will be chosen in campus-wide elections by all male students on October 13.

The polls for the vote will be open at 9:00 a.m. and remain open until 4:00 p.m. Voting will take place at the three men's residence halls and at McKenny Hall for off-campus residents. Each student will vote for one candidate only.

Vital statistics of the candidates follow:

CATHY BRADY is a senior from Detroit. Enrolled on an early elementary curriculum, she lives in Buell Hall and is affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She has served on several social activity committees.

CAROLYN CAMPBELL, a junior, is from Waterford Township, Michigan, and serves as social chairman of her sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma. She is treasurer of the Women's League and is enrolled on an early elementary curriculum.

This year's Homecoming Committee has announced that dancing at the big affair on Saturday, October 18, will be held in both lounges adjacent to the McKenny Ballroom as well as the ballroom itself. Johnny Harbard's band will provide the music in the big ballroom.

Casts Chosen For EMC Players' Forthcoming One-Act Productions

The casts for the EMC Players' three one-act plays were announced this week.

"Aria Da Capo", a harlequinade-fantasy by Edna St. Vincent Millay, will feature Lou Pearl as Pierrot, Karen Bosen as Columbine, Joe Dennis as Cothurnus, Bill Dobkin as Thyrsis, and Joe Del Giudice as Corydon.

The cast of Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey" includes Ronald Mikesell, Stage Manager; Mary Ellen Tindall, Ma Kirby; Fred Germaine, Arthur; Nancy Raker, Caroline; John Newberg, Pa Kirby; and Nancy White, Beulah.

Richard Thiede, Judith Krauss, and Peter Saputo will portray Darry, Lizzie, and Barry, respectively, in "The Beginning of the End." This farce by Sean O'Casey concerns a husband's attempt to trade chores for a day with his wife.

David Meneghel will direct "Aria Da Capo"; Ronald Muchnick, "The Happy Journey"; and Jerry Tewmey, "The Beginning of the End."

The bill of one-act plays, which is the first of the Players' four scheduled productions this year, will open a three day run in Roosevelt Auditorium on October 30.

Ballet Troupe to Perform At Pease October 21

Heading the list of artists scheduled for this year's Community Concert Series is the Kovach and Rabowski Ballet, which will perform at Pease Auditorium on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 8:15 p.m.

Later concerts in the series, all at Pease Auditorium, will include Herman Godes, well known pianist; the Little Gaelic Singers and Mac Morgan, baritone. Student tickets can be purchased at the Dean of Women's office the week preceding the concert, according to Martha Hindes, chairman of the Women's League music committee.

EDITORIAL

We of the North are inclined to discuss "Little Rock" and "integration" with an air of complacent self-righteousness.

However, prejudice and unfairness are not always violent and spectacular.

As a Negro student at the University of Minnesota stated, "Negroes are constantly coming North where they believe they can find true unbiased equality. But, when they reach the North, they find hidden prejudice: prejudice hidden with smiles, false actions, fabricated reasons; prejudice which exists unknown."

He related personal experiences which are probably common to many others — being told the advertised apartment was rented or the job taken when he applied in person, then calling later by phone and finding everything still open.

He told of quiet discrimination in buses and restaurants. He explained that "these situations are difficult to adjust to," for there are no effective means of fighting prejudice which is hidden behind a cloak of deception.

Such prejudice can be fought only by those who are perpetuating it, either by participating in it or by knowingly allowing it to exist.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

During the past year on the campus of Eastern Michigan College, a few members of a certain organization took upon themselves the responsibility of transporting a crippled child to Pease Auditorium for a music lesson, and seeing to it that he was delivered back to the Rackham School at the end of the lesson.

There was little, if any, mention of this in the paper so it is possible that few people were aware. If this group of men had not taken this responsibility, the boy might not have had a music lesson, or else the staff of the Rackham School might have had to spend their time seeing that this boy reached his lesson and that he was brought back to school.

I know for a fact that each one of the participants enjoyed this duty even though it meant considerable sweat on some of the warm days.

The members from another organization on this campus escorted a group of children from the Rackham School to a zoo. Although some of the expenses were absorbed by the Rackham School, the men still spent some of their own money and a considerable amount of their time.

The children that went on the trip certainly enjoyed it but the people who enjoyed it even more were the men who did the escorting.

The reason for writing this is to urge some of the organizations on this campus to give some of their time and effort for the less able. Although other organizations have taken on projects such as this, additional groups participating could accomplish much more.

Money given in charity is always accepted but aid in the form of actual personal labor is always more sincere.

A Student

To the Editor:

Last Friday, as I was returning from class to my apartment in the married housing, I was presented with a scene I had hoped I would never see, but that was almost inevitable.

A young mother stood with her son in her arms waiting to be driven to University Hospital. Little Curt, age two, had fallen from the second level guard rail at Pinegrove Terrace to the ground.

What happened to Curt after this is not the point of my letter, the fact that is important is, though Curt was the first to fall he will not be the last.

The guard rail extends from one end of the building to the other, and is divided into thirteen individual squares 3½ feet wide by 2½ feet high. Each of these large squares is divided into smaller 3½ inch squares, making a ladder of sorts.

These smaller squares in the form of a ladder present the problem. They are big enough for an adult's foot, making them more than adequate for the foot of a child. It is in a child's nature to climb, and he will climb at the first opportunity.

I do not profess to know much about fences, but I have a possible inexpensive solution. Take standard window screening and wire it to the larger squares, thereby covering the smaller ones. This way, no foot, no matter how small would ever climb the guard rail again.

I hope that consideration will be given to this problem, so that there will be no more accidents like Curt's.

Kaye Haewski

To the Editor:

I am sure that I speak for a large percentage of the transfer students to this college when I say that several unpleasant conditions exist which could be avoided.

The first thing that irritates us is that we are constantly labeled as freshmen. In the welcoming speeches that we hear throughout Orientation Week, we are inevitably greeted as the "Class of 1960." This is a minor matter, true, but it starts us off with a bad taste in our mouths.

Registration day brings with it a shock and a second complaint. We discover that all upper classmen who were here previously have had the opportunity to preregister. Most of them have, and a good percentage of the classes are closed, as a result.

This comes as a blow, especially to those of us who are juniors and have a more limited selection of classes to choose from. In particular, the prospective teachers among us who find education in courses closed are pretty discouraged when they learn they must go an extra semester because they could not get the needed courses to start practice teaching the following year.

After many, many trips to our advisors' offices, Strong Science Building and the pay telephone for frantic calls home to Mom and Dad, we come up with a revision of our originally planned schedule.

Some of us are just thankful to be graduating with our class. Others, not so fortunate, are taking whatever courses they have been able to get, knowing they will be graduating late. Yet we try to rationalize to ourselves that we are satisfied. So it is that one might hear, from a group of transfers, such remarks as these:

"Oh, I like it here. An extra semester will be fun." or:

"So what if I'm a physics major; a few homemaking courses never hurt anyone."

Hayes Tells of European Triumphs

by Robert Quick

This summer, Eastern's speedy 1960 Olympics hope, Hayes Jones, traveled to Europe on a three week tour as a member of the United States team which competed in the Soviet Union, Poland, Hungary and Greece and visited in Ireland, London and Canada. Hayes boosted his stock considerably by taking first in Hungary and Greece in the hurdles and very close seconds in Moscow and Poland.

Hayes Jones

His biggest thrill in Europe was his 13.6 time in the hurdles in Hungary which bettered the European record, although it was not counted as a new record because it wasn't a European meet. Crowds of 85,000 and 100,000 saw his and his running mates' feats.

The Kremlin and the Red Square and a large department store comparable to Macy's in New York was seen by Hayes and his teammates. Even though there was no hostility, just open frank curiosity, the visiting track and field team was advised to remain in their hotel after dark, Hayes said. He commented that the people showed a lack of love among themselves, but would trade for gum and candy with strangers.

"Everything was planned out for us most of the time. They took us sightseeing at night so we could not see too well how some of the people live. Most of them live primitively and don't have the facilities we take for granted; and the prices are very high," he said.

To qualify for this NAAU sponsored trip, one had to try out in California in June. The first three in each event went on the trip, but one had to place first or second to compete in USSR.

Hayes was hesitant to try out because of a muscle he pulled in his leg early in April. He was also worried in the effect that after the big build up the Michigan papers gave him and all the claims about his being the greatest hurdler alive, that he wouldn't on account of his leg, be able to do his best and justify these claims; thereby having people laugh at the faith people have put in him and from that bring disgrace to Eastern.

Hayes had an experience in Russia which this 20 year old junior will never forget. Before he left for the tour, Hayes read a clipping about six men who took a tour to Russia. One had a oneyear contract in a Russian electrical plant at which he stayed to work, but his five comrades returned to the States. This one wanted to return after a while too, but was thwarted twice by fate — one the depression and the other the second World War.

Underdog EMC Hurons Face Heralded Chips

by Bill Forster

This Saturday at 1:30 p.m. the Eastern Michigan Hurons and the Central Michigan Chippewas will clash at Mt. Pleasant in a football game which will probably determine the eventual winner of the I.I.A.C. Despite a marked improvement shown in the last two games the Hurons must be instilled in the position of underdogs.

The Chips are off to one of their best starts ever, being victorious in four straight encounters. Their latest victim, Illinois Normal (33-6), was defeated by the Hurons two weeks ago, 13-0. Included among the Central vanquished are Western Michigan and Hillsdale, two perennially tough teams in Michigan small college circles.

The Huron offense which was sputtering, to say the least, in the opening game against Hope has begun to improve at the rate of one touchdown per game. The defensive alignment, which was the only apparent hope for the squad as we viewed the contest at Briggs two weeks ago, still looks as if it is going to be very tough to penetrate, as Coach Fred Trosko's usually defensive minded clubs are.

This game is the big one for the two tribal insitutions (both having Indian nicknames), a fact which undoubtedly many new students are ignorant of. Compare it to the so-called "dog-fight" at East Lansing last Saturday if one must draw hypothetical parallels.

The rivalry is carried to the extreme of giving a pipe to the victor of each football conflict. Eastern gained possession of this pipe via a 39-6 decision last year while she was on her way to an undisputed league title in undefeated fashion.

However, the fact remains that the Eastern ball club is perhaps one week away from a necessary peak which has been prevalent throughout a season and one-half of undefeated I.I.A.C. play. Nevertheless, the role of underdog may be overestimated when one considers the tradition involved in this contest.

The Hurons and Coach Trosko will be called upon to develop a great deal of spirit to approach this tilt on equal terms with their statistically superior opponents. Whether they develop this spirit or not is up to the participants themselves. Nevertheless, a fine, representative crowd from this institution most certainly would not be frowned upon by these individuals.

Harriers Indicate Good Future In A. A. U.

Improving over last year's finish in the Michigan AAU, EMC's cross country team placed third in the meet at Kalamazoo last Saturday.

Coach George Marshall was satisfied with the Huron's showing as three freshmen, Tom Bleokly, Emery Gravelle, and Eugene Jurkiewicz, were among the top five runners for Eastern. Mauri Jormakka, who ran sixth in the meet, was the fastest Eastern Michigan runner.

Western Michigan won the meet, while Michigan State came in second. Finishing behind Eastern were Bowling Green, Central Michigan, and Michigan State's reserve squad. Top man in the meet was Jerry Ashmore of Western with the winning time of 20:28.8.

The team is now preparing for their triangular meet against the University of Chicago and Northern Illinois in Chicago Saturday.

This meet should be a good indicator of the results for this year's conference meet, as Northern Illinois is the defending II AC champion and rated the strongest cross country team in the conference.

Hayes Triumph

After these two setbacks, working at the plant all the while, he attempted to return, but the Russians wouldn't let him because he knew too much about their new war machines and theories.

Hayes met this man and when he learned that Hayes was from America, the look that came over his face was so pitiful that Hayes wanted to cry, as there was nothing he could do to help. That man is still there and will probably never see America again.

Such name athletes as Rafer Johnson, Glenn Davis and Perry O'Brien were on the same team with Hayes.

After returning from Europe, Hayes ran in a benefit race in New York for the Crippled Children's Foundation. That was his last bit of running this summer.

Hayes plans to concentrate more on the hurdles this year, which will leave the sprints as well as the field events weak.

"We are pretty well set as far as distance runners are concerned," he said.

As for the future, Hayes plans to compete in the Pan American Game tryouts this summer in Chicago, as well as the Olympics, when they roll around. Later he may take a crack at the national decathlon.

Asia, Europe On EMC Professor's Itinerary

by Barbara Clarkson

As a delegate for the American Association of University Professors, Prof. Alice Bensen of the English and Speech Department attended the Congress of the International Association of University Professors and Lecturers in Brussels this summer.

While in Brussels, Prof. Bensen had the opportunity to visit the World Fair, about which she noted, "Almost every country tried to present not only its twentieth century achievements but also something of its folklore and the proud events of its history."

Prof. Bensen's visit also took her to Cambodia, Bangkok, Nepal, Japan, Hong Kong, and Afghanistan.

As the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Slay of EMC's Education Department, Prof. Bensen singled out the Temple of Angkor Wat as one of Cambodia's outstanding sights. She described the temple as "A large complex of ruined temples built about 800 years ago and overgrown by the jungle."

Spending most of her time in Nepal bicycle riding, Prof. Bensen found the market places, Buddhist and Hindu temples, and hilly landscape interesting and beautiful.

She also witnessed a cholera epidemic there. As a means of ending the epedemic "A unique procession of Hindu women wearing bright-colored saris and flowas means of bringing it to an end," she related.

As she paused once again to think over her Asiatic trip, Prof. Bensen added, "I was glad to have an opportunity to see these primitive civilizations before they are completely lost to the modern world."

Wilson Fellowships Open to EMC Students

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation has announced that it will accept nominations from faculty members for 1959 teaching fellows until October 31, 1958.

The fellowships are for prospective college teachers and are intended for outstanding first-year graduate students. A student must be nominated by a faculty member in order to be considered for a fellowship.

Interested students may see Prof. Alice Bensen of the English and Speech Department, or write directly to the Foundation at Box 642, Princeton, New Jersey.

ONE OF A SERIES

Pi Kapps Promote Good Speech

Editor's Note: This article is one of a series on student activities and organizations at EMC.

by Jeri Madalinski

EMC'S Epsilon Charter of Pi Kappa Delta is a forensic organization which was established on this campus about 38 years ago to sponsor and promote campus speech activities and inter-collegiate speech activities.

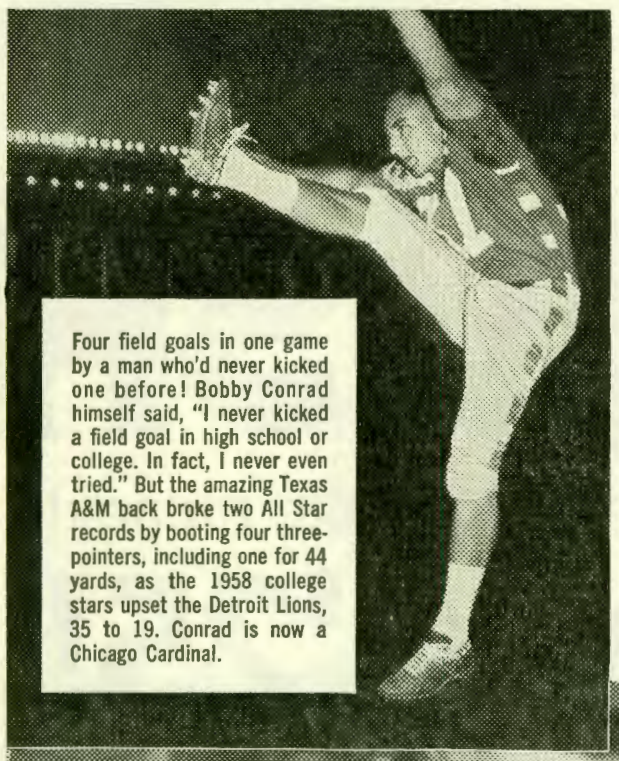
The minimum requirements for eligibility in this organization are either participation in seven rounds of debate, or participation in an oratory or extemporaneous speaking contest held before an audience and sponsored by a local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta.

Those who have met these minimum requirements have their names presented to the active members of the fraternity by Profs. William H. Bos and Grant H. Wessel of the English and Speech Department. The names must be approved by a two thirds vote of the active Pi Kapps before membership is final.

Current officers are Alton Helms, Arlene Muir, Joanne Regan, and Chuck Cabbage who occupy the offices of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Former members of Eastern's Epsilon chapter are now presidents of three Michigan colleges—Central Michigan College, Hillsdale, and Western Michigan University.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE - BUT TODAY'S L&M GIVES YOU-



Four field goals in one game by a man who'd never kicked one before! Bobby Conrad himself said, "I never kicked a field goal in high school or college. In fact, I never even tried." But the amazing Texas A&M back broke two All Star records by booting four three-pointers, including one for 44 yards, as the 1958 college stars upset the Detroit Lions, 35 to 19. Conrad is now a Chicago Cardinal.

Puff by puff Less tars & More taste

DON'T SETTLE FOR ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER!

Change to L&M and get 'em both. Such an improved filter and more taste! Better taste than in any other cigarette. Yes, today's L&M combines these two essentials of modern smoking enjoyment—less tars and more taste—in one great cigarette.
